

Libraries Unshelved

Libraries Unshelved is a new initiative to distribute free books at locations throughout the city. Books labeled with the Libraries Unshelved logo are free to take and read.

When finished, either return the book to its original location, leave it somewhere else, pass it to a friend, or even keep it!

Where do the libraries get the books for this program?

All of the books for the Libraries Unshelved program come from donations from the community.

Where can Libraries Unshelved books be found?

Currently we have books in ten St. Pete Recreation Centers, with more locations to come.

Check www.splibraries.org for more details.

Should Libraries Unshelved books be returned to the library?

Libraries Unshelved books can be kept, shared, or left for someone else to find.

Any of these books returned to the library will be sent back out into the community.

Why are the libraries giving books away?

To share the love of reading with the whole city!
